SCALING AI IN COLLECTIONS: DELIVERING ENTERPRISE VALUE

September 14, 2026
5:30 PM-9:00 PM
Eastern Time

As financial institutions navigate rising delinquencies, shifting customer expectations, and mounting cost pressures, AI is stepping up as more than just a buzzword - it's becoming the strategic engine for modern collections. But delivering true enterprise value takes more than deploying a few clever models. It demands solid data foundations, scalable tech, integrated operating workflows, and responsible governance built to scale.

This executive roundtable brings together senior banking leaders to share practical blueprints for moving beyond isolated AI experiments. Together, we'll dive into the real-world grit of modernizing legacy platforms, unifying fragmented data, staying ahead of evolving regulations, and building organizational muscle that drives measurable outcomes. We'll also look ahead at the next 12 months, exploring how Generative AI, autonomous agents, and intelligent automation are setting a new standard for the industry.

To cap off the evening, we'll transition from strategy to relaxed conversation over a great dinner - kicking off the autumn season with good food, cool drinks, and time to reflect on where the industry is headed next.
